Isabelle Zacher-Finet has been living in Berlin since 2002 as a freelance artist and lecturer in painting. The works produced by this married mother of three have been featured in numerous exhibitions both in Germany and around the world. Through her seminars, workshops, publications, and YouTube channel, she has acquired a major national and international reputation.

There are 18 delightful examples of her work, each one presented in step by step format, with very detailed instruction, but there's also a personal narration that lets you follow her thought process and decide for yourself to keep following her or to start branching off on your own version of the project. My immediate favorites were Dreamy Summer Garden: It was easy to take inspiration from her lovely. loose first-step painting of red flowers and green stems, then go my own way. Second favorite: the abstract house - a completely different take on ink drawing w/paint for me. I've always done the ink drawing first, then add the color. She starts with a composition of painted blocks of color, then inks a picture from what her imagination sees in the colors and composition. It made me reconsider a few things I've been working on! It's a happy and fun book by a serious but not stodgy artist.

Love the premise of this book. I've skipped around and have enjoyed everything that I've read.

What not to love.
