PreS-Gr 1-Pip and Posy are bundled up and ready to play in the snow. They have a wonderful time sledding and making snow angels until they clash over whether to build a snowmouse or a snowrabbit. They get so angry that they throw snow and push until both are cold and sad. "Then Posy did a very kind thing." She apologizes to her friend, and he does the same. Then they go inside to play. The story and illustrations are packed with warmth, humor, and sympathetic understanding of the little dramas of young children's lives. Text is clear and black against boldly colored backgrounds, and the bright illustrations are filled with humorous details.-Amelia Jenkins, Juneau Public Library, AK (c) Copyright 2013. My kids and I love the Pip and Posy The Bedtime Frog, and The Big Balloon. This one has Pip shoving Posy so she falls down and cries. I was not happy about that, but made it a "teachable moment". My 3 year old doesn't want me to read it though and I don't really want to read it to him again. If I had known that was in there, I would not have bought it.

Not our favorite Pip and Posey, but it's good. The concept of snow angels and snow men are a little lost on our 21 month old who lives in a place with no snow, but it's still an ok read.

Amazing author and illustrator for kids ages 1-6. We will likely get everything they've published and as always delivers exactly as they promise.

Another great one!

It's a cute story with a good moral. It's just the right length for my 2 year-old. The book itself is very high quality -- nice, thick pages and good binding.

Not as good as the other Pip and Posy books, in my opinion.

We love those books. Very cute and appropriate for small kids.
