Offering over 250 four-colour decorative motifs, this handbook is an ideal creative resource for porcelain painters, ceramicists, textile designers, wood and metal workers and anyone who takes nature as a visual inspiration. - Period House

The late Birthe Koustroup was a Danish naturalist, designer and painter.

I do a lot of ceramics painting and I'm always on the lookout for design ideas. This book has a variety of decorative designs and some really great simple flower designs. For one of my projects I needed some inspiration for Egyptian designs and found what I needed. Overall a valuable book to add to your design library.

For anyone who is interested in what direction to take botanical drawings, this book is a source of inspiration.

As a professor of textiles for many years I have seen many books on design. This one is a gem. I wish I'd found it sooner. It takes a unique approach to translating the varieties of nature into the regularity of patterning without losing the richness and detail of the subject. It shows how to develop radial, circular, border, and repeat patterns. It is useful for work in ceramics, textiles, decorative painting, etc and would be enjoyed by gardeners and botanists.

Handbook of Decorative Motifs is a very beautiful and useful book. The illustrations are clear and versatile. There are lots of paintings I hope to try.

A wonderful reference book in styles and shapes of flowers, leaves, fish and colors. Great to use for resources by many artists. Birthe shows you how to break up a design into repeat patterns, sizes, and designs. She has wonderful flowing motifs. Great use of colors, soft to vibrant. This book should be in all artist library.
