Children Of The Living God

Synopsis

Jesus Christ taught his disciples to call God 'Our Father', and to live as members of his family. Although simple enough for every Christian to understand this is also so profound that its implications take a lifetime and more to explore fully. Children of the Living God shows how the Spirit of sonship, Christian freedom, divine discipline, prayer, and the sacraments all contribute to our experience of the love the Father has for his children.

Customer Reviews

Wonderful writer. Great book!

As with most of Ferguson's work, this book is inspired and clear...not too wordy or theologically challenging. Unfortunately, the link does not yield the book; can you clarify and please forward an additional copy to me?

Excellent

This book explains clearly the Reformed, biblical understanding of the covenant between God and His children. For Christians undergoing hard times and especially for parents who have children who they worry about because they have yet to show signs of salvation this book is a blessing. This book leads the reader to Scripture that will strengthen faith and provide hope and comfort through the worst of the trials of life. This is a wonderful book for counselors and pastors as a resource in counseling, instruction, or special studies. It is sophisticated enough for a professional theologian yet easy and understandable for the laity as well. I continually run out of copies of this book because so often situations come up in people's lives where I know the wisdom and understanding in it will be the best counsel that I can give. I am here to order several now.

Sinclair Ferguson is a master at giving you the big picture of a portion of scripture and then breaking it down and then putting it back together again. I am teaching through this book at our church and have found it to be very thorough. The first few chapters are so rich that we have taken several classes on just a few pages. This understanding, that we are children of the living God, is so foundational to our Christian walk and needs to be meditated on so that we don't neglect so great a privilege. For the people of Israel the "access" that we have to the Father was beyond their comprehension. It is my prayer that you will seriously ponder these great truths that Christ died for and continues to intercede for us as our "elder brother" and Lord.
